

2014 End of Session Report

Weatherization Measures – The most significant legislative action in 2014 was HB 787, an act relating to weatherization measures in common interest communities, which would have prohibited restrictions on homeowner energy-conservation or renewable energy efforts, including the installation of clotheslines and solar panels. It remained sitting in the House Committee on Natural Resources and Energy with no further action.