HOME SWEET HOA
COMMUNITY ASSOCIATIONS REMAIN POPULAR WITH AMERICAN HOMEOWNERS
For the seventh time in 13 years, Americans living in homeowners associations and condominiums say they’re overwhelmingly satisfied in their communities:

- 85% of residents rate their overall community association experience as positive (63%) or neutral (22%).
- 84% say members of their elected governing board “absolutely” or “for the most part” serve the best interests of their communities.
- 73% say their community managers provide value and support to residents and their associations.
- 90% say their association’s rules protect and enhance property values (62%) or have a neutral effect (28%); only 4% say the rules harm property values.

These findings objectively refute the unfounded and unsubstantiated myth that the community association model of governance is failing to serve the best interests of Americans who choose to live in common-interest communities.

The 2018 survey was conducted by Zogby Analytics for the Foundation for Community Association Research. The following illustrations compare results from the seven surveys conducted since 2011. Totals may not equal 100 percent due to rounding and “don’t know” answers.

For more information and data about community associations, visit www.caionline.org/aboutcommunityassociations
85% of residents rate their overall community association experience as positive (63%) or neutral (22%).

Overall, would you say you are on friendly terms with your current community association board, or would you say you are on unfriendly terms with them?

81% say they are on friendly terms with their association board.

Do you think the members of your elected governing board strive to serve the best interests of the community as a whole?

84% say members of their elected governing board “absolutely” or “for the most part” serve the best interests of their communities.
Association Assets: Community Managers

In your view, does your community manager provide value and support to residents and the community as a whole?

- Yes: 78, 73, 76, 73, 83, 69, 73
- No: 13, 21, 18, 21, 17, 22, 19

73% of residents say their community managers provide value and support to residents and their associations.

Was direct interaction with your community manager generally a positive experience?

- Yes: 88, 79, 77, 81, 88, 82, 81
- No: 10, 20, 20, 17, 12, 13, 16

81% of residents who had direct contact with their community manager say it was a positive experience.
Assessments: Acceptable Amounts

Thinking about the amount of your overall assessments that you pay for the services provided by your association, do you feel the amount of your assessments is too much, too little or just the right amount?

60% of residents say their association assessments are “just the right amount”—or “too little”

What do you think your community should do when residents neglect to pay their assessments?

Insist that every homeowner pay the assessments, involving attorneys only if delinquent accounts are not brought up to date after sufficient notification

Make up the loss by increasing assessments for paying homeowners

Curtail services and amenities such as reducing pool hours, delaying improvements and spending less on landscaping
Association Governance: Under the Right Control

The governance of community associations is subject to differing state laws and regulations. Would you like to see more or less government control of these associations, or would you prefer no change?

80% of residents prefer either no change or less government control within their association.

Do the rules in your community protect and enhance property values, harm them or make no difference?

90% of residents say their association’s rules protect and enhance property values (62%) or have a neutral effect (28%); only 4% say the rules harm property values.
Our mission—with your support—is to provide research-based information for homeowners, association board members, community managers, developers, and other stakeholders. Since the Foundation’s inception in 1975, we’ve built a solid reputation for producing accurate, insightful, and timely information, and we continue to build on that legacy. Visit foundation.caionline.org

Since 1973, Community Associations Institute (CAI) has been the leading provider of resources and information for homeowners, volunteer board leaders, professional managers, and business professionals in 342,000 community associations, condominiums, and co-ops in the United States and millions of communities worldwide. With nearly 40,000 members, CAI works in partnership with 36 legislative action committees and 63 affiliated chapters within the U.S., Canada, United Arab Emirates, and South Africa, as well as with housing leaders in several other countries including Australia, Spain, Saudi Arabia, and the United Kingdom.

A global nonprofit 501(c)(6) organization, CAI is the foremost authority in community association management, governance, education, and advocacy. Our mission is to inspire professionalism, effective leadership, and responsible citizenship—ideals reflected in community associations that are preferred places to call home. Visit us at www.caionline.org and follow us on Twitter and Facebook @CAISocial.