

North Carolina Hurricane Helene Resources

Updated 10/16/24

The devastation from Hurricane Helene has impacted community associations (homeowner and condominium associations) of all sizes and types in North Carolina. CAI supports those communities recovering from this deadly storm and working to remove physical hazards in the way of recovery efforts. CAI has gathered the below information on current state, local, and federal resources to assist with the difficult task of rebuilding and recovering.

CAI has this information, plus additional helpful resources, online at its Disaster Recovery Resources page: <https://www.caionline.org/disaster-recovery-resources/>.

FEMA continues to prioritize recovery efforts, including search and recovery, shelter, power, water, and other critical resources for hospitals, first responders, and those with life-threatening circumstances.

Debris Removal

NC Updated Disaster Declaration Highlights Debris Removal from Community Associations

Debris removal has been approved for Emergency Protective Measures (Category B).

Emergency protective measures conducted before, during, and after an incident are eligible if the measures:

- Eliminate or lessen immediate threats to lives, public health, or safety; OR
- Eliminate or lessen immediate threats of significant additional damage to improved public or private property in a cost-effective manner.

Community association must work with the local municipal authorities to coordinate debris removal on public and private roads. All public and private roads should be covered under the local municipal debris removal efforts. It is important to note that community associations will not be reimbursed by FEMA or the locality for debris removal. The community MUST allow the locality to remove the debris (on both private and public roads).

For private roads, communities will be required to:

- (a) Authorize the locality to remove the debris
- (b) Indemnify FEMA and the locality from claims raised by debris removal.

NOTE: Communities seeking FEMA support for debris removal MUST work with their local municipality. FEMA does not provide money to community associations for debris removal. FEMA provides support and funding to the local municipality.

Critical Infrastructure Repairs to Common Area

Community Association Critical Repairs of Common Area Infrastructure: Once communities move to phase II of recovery – following efforts related to life-safety – communities should:

- For removal of debris in and out of the community that is considered life safety, contact the local municipality and coordinate debris removal.
- For other issues, not life threatening:
 - Contact your insurance carrier to explore coverage.
 - Contact the U.S. Small Business Administration to inquire about low interest disaster loans and/or grant programs - <https://www.sba.gov/funding-programs/disaster-assistance/hurricane-helene>
 - Contact the NC Department of Public Safety - <https://www.ncdps.gov/our-organization/emergency-management/hurricane-helene#Safety-8279>

Homeowner Resources

FEMA can provide individual assistance to condo owners and homeowners of housing cooperatives and single-family homes for their owner-occupied units in federally declared disaster areas.

However, FEMA will not help with damaged common areas or items that are the responsibility of the condominium association, housing cooperative, or homeowners association. Homeowners who rent out their units may not be eligible for FEMA assistance.

To qualify for FEMA assistance, you must:

- Be a U.S. citizen, non-citizen national, or qualified non-citizen
- Provide proof of identity and occupancy
- Provide proof of ownership for your home
- Have a primary residence in a disaster area that you can't access or live in
- Have no insurance or have filed a claim that doesn't cover all your losses

You can apply for FEMA assistance by visiting DisasterAssistance.gov, using the FEMA mobile app, calling the FEMA helpline at (800) 621-3362, or visiting a Disaster Recovery Center.

You can expect FEMA assistance to last for up to 18 months after the disaster declaration, but it may be extended in some cases.
